CIMO Asia programme funded India projects 2015

Project title: MoDo Project India – Mobile Documentary as a Development Tool
Coordinator Helsinki Metropolia University of Applied Sciences Department of Media and Communication Auli Sillanpää auli.sillanpaa@metropolia.fi	The MoDo Project aims at deepening the internationalisation of education in the three institutions through developing a new pedagogical tool for the production of storytelling mobile documents. The project includes joint workshops in India and Finland and mobility of teachers and students for the workshops. The theme of the MoDo documentaries focuses on developing gender equality in the two countries through mobile documentary. The special aim of the Project is enhancing the role of girls and women in India and Finland. The target group of the project is the students and teachers of Helsinki Metropolia UAS, Turku UAS, Chitkara University.
Partners Helsinki Metropolia University of Applied Sciences Chitkara University Turku University of Applied Sciences Yle, The National Broadcasting Company of Finland	The background of the cooperation and the Project is globalization, quick technical development and changing media: new working and pedagogical methods are needed. According to the The Federation of the Finnish Media Industry there is also a need for international educational cooperation. Another motivation for the Project is also the fruitful experiences of a similar, very successful project called FiNe which was done with Oscar International College in Nepal with the funding of Finnish Ministry for Foreign Affairs in 2012-2014.
